

Saratoga Cardiology Associates

Saratoga Springs, New York

This 28,000 square foot cardiology center houses a consortium of doctors and served as the first and primary anchor building in a new medical/technical office park in Saratoga Springs, New York. The doctors were interested in providing their patients with continuing care and so the center was designed with an 8,000 square foot wellness center.

Here, patients can pursue their rehabilitation under supervised care as well as receive continued preventative healthcare. Other components in the facility include examination rooms, nuclear imaging facilities, a hematology laboratory, private offices, conferencing center, and administrative areas.
