

Schaghticoke Town Hall

Schaghticoke, New York

The construction of its first Town building posed a special set of considerations for Schaghticoke's leaders. While it was important to provide a frugal and functional building to conduct Town business, there was also the strong desire to achieve a building of character, which would serve as a landmark for the growing community.

architecture+ was able to provide such a building, using traditional construction methods. The resulting structure provides courtroom, administrative and public gathering space in a simple, yet aesthetically pleasing environment.
